

1. Summary.

My website M-talk is created to raise awareness about menstrual health. It should be an informative site. It is not a business-oriented site. I intend for it to look feminine, classy, and intimate. I will use a muted pink and gray palette to achieve this effect. I will not overflow the page with words because that stresses people out. I want people to feel comfortable just scrolling through the site. I believe this is the best approach because these colors tend to calm people down. Also, pink and gray is a great color combo to portray femininity.
